SECTION - I

(Reading Skill, Grammar, Vocabulary, Note-making and Summary)

Q. 1. (A) Read the first activity, read the extract and then do all the activities : [15] (12)

A1. Choose —

Choose two sentences that appropriately mention the theme of the passage : (2)

- (1) The extract deals with the writer's concern over Chaitanya's handicap.
- (2) The extract depicts the writer's proud feelings towards her son's achievement.
- (3) The extract deals with how Chaitanya made the writer see positively towards life.
- (4) The extract deals with how the writer helps Chaitanya to buy the bus ticket.

Early in 1997-98, when he returned from state level inter-school sports, he had two prizes to his credit and a silver medal. He had won his laurels in athletic events and the silver medal in a running race.

When I saw the prizes and read the citation Chaitanya had received, I was stupefied, in total disbelief, then – hugged him, kissed him and cried unabashedly to my heart's content. That day, I cried for the first time out of joy and a sense of being vindicated. Without practice he had competed with approximately 1,800 children drawn from various schools all over the state. He was subsequently selected for the marathon race, but he could not participate due to a health problem. "May be next year, he would", I assured myself. And I, as his proud mother, would proudly chronicle his future achievements and success to inspire other mothers of the world.

Looking back at my own life, I feel that it is the spirit with which we can accept our life gracefully is what matters ultimately; and it is love which nourishes us. All other things are unimportant. Chaitanya has made me look inwards. His handicap doesn't disturb me any longer. He and I shall live with it and still be happy. The mental strength which he has given to me is inexhaustible.

One day, as both of us got onto a public transport bus, Chaitanya offered to buy the tickets for us.

"One full, one half", he said to the conductor beaming with joy.

Looking at him, I wondered whether he was really only a half? An incomplete person? Was I really full? Complete in all respects? Why do then normal people feel that they are 'full' and others like Chaitanya are 'half' or incomplete? Chaitanya's world is complete in itself, pure and innocent while our lives are full of deceit, jealousies, ill-feelings.

A2. Point out : (2)

Q. 2. (A) Read the first activity, read the extract and then do all the activities : [15]

A1. Read the following statements. Find out the correct statements and write them down : (2)

- (i) Both India and Maharashtra can progress if they have different interests.
- (ii) Hard work is the only way to build the future of India and Maharashtra.
- (iii) The sacrifice of the best and grand in Maharashtra will be made for the state of Maharashtra.
- (iv) In times of great calamity the Sahyadri will protect the Himalayas, like a shield.

On this historic moment, I stand here to thank Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru. India's present epoch maker has come over here to bless the state of Maharashtra which is definitely going to last forever. On behalf of thousands of common people, I express my deep sense of gratitude to him for blessing us. We Maharashtrians love him, worship him. And once again, I wish to declare that this state of Maharashtra, recently formed, will work for the betterment of the common people of Maharashtra, but if it comes to sacrifice, whatever best and grand we have, it will be done primarily for India. This is so, because, we believe from the beginning, that Maharashtra depends on India; its greatness depends on the greatness of India. All Maharashtrians believe that both India and Maharashtra can progress only when there is oneness of interest. And, therefore, I have made this clear by bringing to your notice the significance of certain symbols, for example, the Himalayas stand for India and, the Sahyadri, for Maharashtra. The snowy Himalayas with the highest mountain ranges symbolise India and the Sahyadri with the blackest rock structure and with 200-300 inches rainfall symbolise Maharashtra. I promise you that if the Himalayas are in jeopardy, the Sahyadri of Maharashtra will use its black rock structure like a shield to protect the Himalayas.

‘Hard labour’ is the watchword of our times. And, Panditji, you have given us the message of building Maharashtra and our nation by hard labour. We are going to inscribe this valuable message on our minds and try our best to look at your blessings and your guidance, as the blessings and guidance of an epoch maker.

A2. Complete the following statements : (2)

The small village of Somnathpur contains an extraordinary temple, built around 1268 A.D. by the Hoyasalas of Karnataka — one of the most prolific temple builders. Belur and Helebid are among their better-known works. While these suffered during the invasion of the 14th century, the Somnathpur temple stands more or less intact in near-original condition. The small temple captivates with the beauty and vitality of its detailed sculpture, covering almost every inch of the walls, pillars and even ceilings. It has three Shikhars and stands on a star-shaped raised platform with 24 edges. The outer walls have a profusion of detailed carvings: the entire surface run over by carved plaques of stone. There were vertical panels covered by exquisite figures of God and Goddesses, with many incarnations being depicted. There were nymphs too, some carrying an ear of maize, a symbol of plenty and prosperity. The elaborate ornamentation, very characteristic of Hoyasala sculptures was a remarkable feature. On closer look — and it is worth it — the series of friezes on the outer walls revealed intricately carved caparisoned elephants, charging horsemen, stylized flowers and warriors.

Q. 3. (A) Read the first activity, read the extract and then do all the activities : [15]

A1. Table —

Complete the table with the information from the passage : (2)

Insects	Similarity	Difference
Bumble bee – Beefly
Wasp – Hoverfly

Have you ever wondered why soldiers are always clad in green? This is to enable them to camouflaging themselves during wartime. Hiding in the jungles, their green attire blend into the surrounding trees and shrubs, making it difficult for the enemies to spot them.

Long before man made use of camouflaging, insects have already adopted the tactic of disguise to escape from the clutches of their predators. By having body colour close to those of the rocks and dried leaves, they can escape from being pursued by the predators.

Butterflies and moths have developed a variety of camouflage strategies since they are quite defenceless and their predators are abundant. Possessing wings which resemble dried leaves help certain butterflies and moths to hide among heaps of dried leaves when predators are around.

Fortunately, not all insects choose the art of disguise to escape from their predators; otherwise, the world would be so dull and colourless. There are insects which assimilate the bright body colours of bees and wasps to escape from being pursued by their predators. Long ago, birds have already learnt to avoid brilliantly coloured wasps and bees in fear of their painful stings. Hence, over millions of years, many harmless insects have assimilated the bees and wasps by imitating their bright body colours and shapes. In this way, they appear dangerous and hence ward them off.

The beefly not only appears like the bumblebee in terms of body colour, even its hums sound similar too. The only difference is that the beefly does not have a sting and is hence harmless. The hoverfly is another insect which imitates the body colours of the wasps. Their bodies are striped yellow and black. The only deviations are that hoverflies do not have stings, and they have only one pair of wings each while wasps have two pairs each. These variations are hardly noticed by the predators and hence help them to escape.

A2. Complete the tree diagram : (2)

If you do not get lowered in your own eyes
While you raise yourself in those of others
If you do not give into gossips and lies
Rather heed them not, saying, 'Who bothers?'
You may be the person I am looking for.

If you crave not for praise when you win
And look not for sympathy while you lose
If cheers let not your head toss or spin
And after a set-back you offer no excuse.
You may be the person I am looking for.

If you accept counsel without getting sore
And reassess yourself in the light thereof
If you pledge not to be obstinate any more
And meet others without any frown or scoff.
You may be the person I am looking for.

Q. 5. (A) Read the extract and do the activities that follow : (4) [8]

‘Your father was my enemy,’ said Frederick. ‘I would have been better pleased by your brave deed if you had told me of another father?’

‘I am proud to be Sir Rowland’s son,’ answered Orlando angrily, ‘and I would not change my place to be the heir of this dukedom.’

The Duke and his lords went away, leaving Orlando alone with Rosalind and Celia. Celia was angry with her father for speaking so unkindly to Orlando. ‘Would I have done this in my father’s place?’ she said to Rosalind.

'My father loved Sir Rowland as much as his own soul,' Rosalind said to Celia, 'and all the world agreed with him. If I had known that his young man was Sir Rowland's son I should have begged him with tears not to take so great a risk.'

'Let us go and speak to Orlando,' said gentle Celia. 'I am ashamed of my father's rude and angry words.'

The two girls went up to Orlando and praised him for his bravery. Rosalind took a gold chain from her neck and gave it to him. 'I would like to give you more', she said, 'but I am not rich'. Then she and Celia went away.

Orlando, however, could not forget them. He had already fallen in love with the fair Rosalind, but he could not stay at the Duke's palace. His friends warned him that Frederick was angry and jealous of him. They told Orlando to leave the dukedom, because the Duke meant to do him harm.

Tom : (nervously). But, I say, we can't go prowling about someone else's house.

George : We can if we hear any suspicious noises. You never know – this place might belong to a gang of criminals.

- Tom : (sarcastically). You certainly are trying to cheer us up, George. We don't want to meet a gang of criminals.
- George : Why not? We're all strong, healthy chaps, aren't we? Are you in a funk already?
- Tom : No, of course not; but – well – Alfie's got his best suit on, and –
- Ginger : Never mind about Alfie's suit. (With a great show of courage). I'm not afraid of any criminals. Here, George, lend me that torch. (Taking the torch and going up R.C.). I'll show you if I'm afraid. (Suddenly seeing the white models and letting out a yell of terror.) Ow! W-what's that?
- Tom : (down C., not daring to look round). What's what?
- Ginger : C - come here. I thought I saw something grinning at me.
- Tom : (crossing hastily to door L.). I'm going to get out of here.
- Ginger : (Coming down C.) So am I. I'm not afraid of criminals, but I believe this place is haunted.
- George : Talk sense, Ginger. Here, give me that torch. (Takes torch and goes up R.C.)
- Alfie : (down L.C.) I want to go home.
- Ginger : Can you see anything, George?
- George : (cautiously approaching white models). I can't make out what it is, but I believe it's an animal. I say – there's something alive in here – I can see its teeth.
(Under the light of George's torch a row of teeth can be dimly seen.)
- Alfie : (rushing to the door) Let me out! Let me out! I want to go home!
